

Volm Companies started out as a small family-run organization in 1954 in Bryant, WI. At the beginning, they sold groceries and hardware supplies. Many of the people utilizing their services were local dairy and potato farmers. Eventually, they realized that local farmers needed a reliable supplier of used and new burlap to get their product to market. Over time, the company formed distributor relationships with other bag companies and moved their business to Antigo, WI where they began manufacturing their own products. Since then, the company has expanded to include multiple manufacturing and distribution locations across the United States.

In 1988, Volm Companies manufacturing facility started providing mesh produce bags. Since then, they've evolved their capabilities to provide Half-n-Half® produce bags, knitted mesh bags, Ultratech® mesh bags along with many other type, colors, and sizes! Visit their website here for more information! (<http://volmcompanies.com/product-category/mesh-bags/>).

Currently, Volm partners with customers such as Dole, Sunkist, and Green Giant to supply them with their produce packaging. They also serve retailers such as Menards and Fleet Farm for distribution of consumer items such as snow and garden fences, privacy fabric and shade cloth.
